LEWISTON, VA., December 22.—Bel Air School was the scene of quite a pret-ty Christmas party on Wednesday even-ing, when the Misses Scott, assisted by the merry voices of the happy girls gave evidence of their readiness to enjoy to the fullest the first party of the holiday season. Dancing began at 8.30. —en followed a series of good old Virginia dances. The square sets were very animatedly and prettily danced, and were thoroughly enjoyed.

Hund-parated souvenirs in holly, with attractive Christmas verses, assigned to each miss the gentleman who would take her in a support.

cach miss the gentleman who would take her in to supper.

At II the doors to the dining-room were thrown open, and presented to the eyes a perfect 'hower.' There the refreshments were done full justice to, while the laugh and talk went on. The dance was not incking interest when it had begun again, and continued until 2 o'clock.

All too soon did the time come to dance the Virginia reel. Every one was loathe to dance it, as much as one may love and enjoy that old Virginia dance, because it mesnit that 2ail good things were at an end, for that time at least. But when once begun it was danced with a vim and enjoyment calculated to make it the figure of the evening. The hour had come for the "good nights," and the party was a pleasure of the past. party was a pleasure of the past.

Holiday Furs for Gifts.

Another Sale.

About two weeks ago we announced a sale of $5,000.00 worth of high grade Furs at 25 per cent, under regular prices. It was a most successful selling event. We had anticipated selling them all Christmas Eve, but they were such exceptional values that in less than four days we were completely sold out. We duplicated the order, but for the overcrowded conditions of the express companies, during the holiday rush, we were delayed. It's to your interest they were. You can now buy the season's newest and most desirable Furs at 33 1-3 per cent. under regular prices in-
